GrantsNOW
Fusion Practices

Fusion Practices' GrantsNow

The pre-awards solution you can configure to suit your institution's processes and terminology.

According to research, most pre-awards solutions do not provide a comprehensive ethics module as a core feature. Even if they do provide, it is mostly rigid and not flexible enough to incorporate future customisations.

GrantsNow not only provides this feature but is also customisable to suit your institution's needs. We directly integrate the 'ethics' module to our solution, and it provides two important functionalities: standalone ethics approval and incorporation with your research proposal.

The Ethics Module Includes

Dynamic fields/forms which assists clients to generate their own customisable forms from scratch and map them to predefined processes as per their requirements

GrantsNow ensures that your research complies with ethical standards as it maintains transparency and assures quality

The admin user can access the admin console where all screens are located for setup and configuration and your ethics questions can be configured

User defined fields can also be set up when the system is configured for the institution, which lead into and determine if ethics approval is required. The user will have to answer yes/no to each question which is configurable by making the use of radio buttons. The screen will allow the admin user to either add, edit, or delete the questions
